Can persistent links to Explora articles be posted on NoodleTools?

Yes, persistent links can be posted on NoodleTools. A persistent link allows a user to retrieve an article in Explora, or any EBSCOhost interface, by clicking on a link in a website. This feature permits professors, teachers, and librarians to include links to articles within Explora or EBSCOhost on web pages. However, only authorized users can access the article. When users follow the hyperlink from a web page, they will be prompted for authentication information. After authentication takes place, a search for the article number as specified in the syntax of the link is conducted.
