Why do some of the records in PsycARTICLES contain an article title of [Untitled]?

The APA includes advertisements and other non-academic content in the PsycARTICLES database in order to provide true cover to cover full text of the journals included in PsycARTICLES.

As it is an APA editorial policy not to include the true title of these advertisement records, we receive these records without an article title and, therefore, that is how the content appears on EBSCOhost.
